Section II: Marketing

- Incorporate gamification, quizzes, offline access, and accessibility features.
- Use app store optimization, inbound marketing, and partnerships with influencers.
- Highlight native speaker connections and user testimonials to attract users.
- Craft clear messaging with engaging slogans

2.1 Promotional Channels

The following are some of the ways to attract and engage more users to using the App;

2.1.1 Attracting New Users

The best option would be to implement an inbound marketing strategy that will attract customers in a non-intrusive way, creating useful content for the user and using digital channels. The strategy could be based in the following actions:

- Emphasizing the company's focus in community building, using it as a differentiator from other language learning apps
- Share testimonials from users who have achieved their language learning goals through Linguado
- Provide rewards to users that refer family or friends to use the app
- Offer free trials as a hook for new users
- Partner with language learning influencers to promote Linguado to their followers.
- Encourage satisfied users to share their positive experiences on social media.
- Reinforce the creation of content in their social media by making informative videos, sharing tips, learning strategies and cultural insights
- Provide excellent customer support to maintain the satisfaction of the users

2.1.2 Engaging Users;

Incorporating the following features in the App and localizing the interface for non-English speakers can increase user (both English and non-English speakers) engagement on the App.

- Gamification and Incentives: the use of gameful approaches has been found to increase learner motivation and engagement (Flores, 2015). There are several types of game-based language learning, including role-playing games for practicing communication like Werewolf (Plotkin 1997).
- Offline access: It seems that an app's offline functionality is essential to its long-term viability. Considering that a free broadband connection isn't accessible in some areas, as a result, people prefer using applications that are available in offline mode and just use the Internet to update (Fateme, 2020)
- App store optimization: By translating app descriptions and keywords, region-specific screenshots and promotional images.

- Accessibility Features: Features such as text-to-speech, speech recognition for pronunciation practices
- Quizzes and Challenges: Language specific quizzes or challenges can be rewarded with badges. Leaderboard can also be included to increase users competition.
- Partnerships and Integration: Integrating with popular social media or messaging app would attract and engage more users.

2.2 Message

2.2.1 Main Marketing Campaign

The focus of the campaign should be on the benefits of connecting with native speakers of your target language and the community it creates, since this will attract new customers (by showing the benefits) and create loyalty of the customers (by emphasizing the creation to the community).

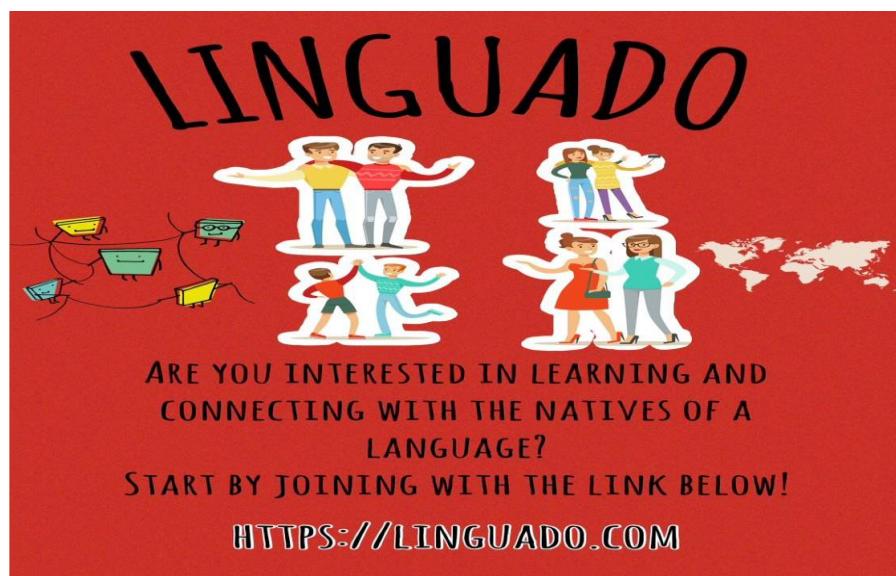

2.2.2 Main Slogan

A good message for the Linguado, since we already settled that the focus of the campaign would be connecting and the community, is “Join a global community of language learners”. It is really simple and straight forward but highlights what we’re looking for.

So far the company doesn’t count with a slogan, but based on the focus the marketing strategy has, here are two proposals: “Connect. Learn. Grow.” or "Your World, Your Language".

2.2.3 Social Media Promotional Post

Do you know you can learn any language faster than you could ever think? With Linguado, you will achieve fluency immediately and even connect with natives of any language of your choice .Start now by clicking the link, www.linguado.com

SECTION III - Management

- Focus on real-time practice, cultural exchange, and social connectivity to differentiate
- Emphasize the value of the language-learning market
- Leverage freemium models, partnerships, and sponsored content to monetize
- Incorporate AI moderation, community guidelines, and reporting to ensure safety

3.1 Finance

There is a need for careful planning around payment collection, currency exchange, taxes, and security. Here are some considerations:

Transaction Fees: the fees charged by payment processors should be minimized

Currency Exchange: Avoiding unfavorable exchange rates by using services offering competitive rates is necessary

Taxes: Staying compliant with local tax laws, such as VAT or GST depending on users' location is also important

The following are some payment gateways that can be used;

- Global payment processors like Stripe, PayPal, or Adyen, which handle multi-currency transactions and often provide localized payment options (e.g., UPI in India or iDEAL in the Netherlands).
- Local Payment Methods: By partnering with local payment services like Alipay in China and M-Pesa in Africa, for greater market penetration.
- Currency Exchange Platforms: Platforms like Wise (formerly TransferWise) or Payoneer for transferring funds internationally with low exchange fees have a faster transfer rate compared to traditional banks.

Pros and Cons of International Payments

Pros:

- 1. Global Reach: Accepting international payments allows you to tap into a broader customer base, boosting revenue.
- 2. Local Currency Options: Customers are more likely to pay if they can transact in their local currency, improving conversion rates.
- 3. Diverse Payment Methods: Accommodating local payment preferences increases accessibility.

Cons:

- 1. High Fees: Payment processors often charge higher fees for cross-border transactions.
- 2. Exchange Rate Fluctuations: Volatility can affect profitability, especially when revenues are converted back to the base currency.
- 3. Tax Complexity: Managing tax obligations across multiple jurisdictions can be challenging and may require expert consultation.

Possible Security Issues: Some of the possible security issue may include;

- 1. Fraud: International payments are often targeted by fraudsters due to the complexity of monitoring cross-border transactions.
- 2. Data Breaches: Customer payment data (e.g., card information) is a prime target for hackers.
- 3. Regulatory Compliance: Non-compliance with laws like GDPR (in the EU) or PCI DSS (globally) can lead to fines and reputational damage.

The followings are some mitigation measures to securing the finances of the App:

- 1. PCI DSS Compliance: Ensuring the app and payment processors comply with global payment security standards.
- 2. Tokenization and Encryption: Using secure methods to store and transmit payment data.
- 3. Fraud Detection Tools: Employing tools that flag suspicious transactions and verify the authenticity of users.
- 4. Regular Security Audits: Conducting penetration testing and audits to identify and address vulnerabilities.
